DESCRIPTION

Primarily, this course is an introduction to syntactic theory. We will explore the questions the field asks, the methodologies employed, and some of the main generalizations that have been drawn. In-class discussion will focus on English, though problem sets may cover other languages.

OBJECTIVES

Students should be able to complete tree drawing exercises, especially for English. Students should be able to replicate the basic of reasoning underlying notions of constituent structure, basic binding theory, head movement, and subadjacency.

OUTCOMES

Students will have a strong grasp of tree drawing based on reasoning drawn from constituency and linear order. Students will have experience in creating the English language examples necessary to argue a specific point, as well as a general understanding of the scientific method (hypothesis formation, testing, revision).

DISTRIBUTION OF GRADES

- Problem Sets = 25% (5x5%)
- Quizzes = 15% (5x3%, best 5 out of 7 offered)
- Midterm Exam = 25% (Oct 21st)
- Final Exam = 35%

Final Examination:

The Final Examination will be scheduled by the Registrar during Dec 9 -19th. Requests for pre-assignment of examinations to special dates for whatever cause or reason cannot be accommodated. Similarly, changes in the dates of scheduled examinations cannot be approved.

COURSE NOTES

- Attendance is not mandatory, but all quizzes are held in class on dates announced in advance. Seven quizzes are scheduled, but only the best five count to the final grade; this flexibility means that rewrites are not offered for missed quizzes (as it is possible to miss two without penalty).
- Extensions or other consideration for late assignments or missing the midterm will only be granted provided the conditions described below are met.
- All assignments should be submitted in hard copy in class, or through the SLLLC dropbox on the third floor elevator lobby between Craigie Hall C and D blocks on the due date. Emailed pictures of assignments (or components thereof) will not be accepted.
- All assignments must be typed, though hand drawn trees are ok (either attached separate pages or scanned embedded images) Camera phone images of your trees are not sufficient.

ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

1. Plagiarism is a serious offence, the penalty for which is an F on the assignment and possibly also an F in the course, academic probation, or requirement to withdraw. Plagiarism exists when:

- a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test);
- b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author;
- c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or
- d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted."

Plagiarism occurs not only when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement but also when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. A bibliography is insufficient to establish which portions of the student's work are taken from external sources; footnotes or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose.

2. Cheating at tests or examinations includes but is not limited to dishonest or attempted dishonest conduct such as speaking to other candidates or communicating with them under any circumstances whatsoever; bringing into the examination room any textbook, notebook, memorandum, other written material or mechanical or electronic device not authorized by the examiner; writing an examination or part of it, or consulting any person or materials outside the confines of the examination room without permission to do so, or leaving answer papers exposed to view, or persistent attempts to read other students' examination papers.

3. Other academic misconduct includes, but is not limited to, tampering or attempts to tamper with examination scripts, class work, grades and/or class records; failure to abide by directions by an instructor regarding the individuality of work handed in; the acquisition, attempted acquisition, possession, and/or distribution of examination materials or information not authorized by the instructor; the impersonation of another student in an examination or other class assignment; the falsification or fabrication of clinical or laboratory reports; the non-authorized tape recording of lectures.

4. Any student who voluntarily and consciously aids another student in the commission of one of these offences is also guilty of academic misconduct.
